PEER Productions

the Xclusions project

Since January, our young team of actor educators have been working with excluded young people from some of the most deprived areas of Surrey. The Xclusions Project is a multimedia performance which brings the things we have learned working with these challenging groups back to the schools, colleges, and youth groups of Surrey.

The play lasts a little under an hour, is funny and powerful in equal measure and aims to help raise understanding of the subtler complexities that surround social exclusion in Surrey. Ideal as part of the Key Stage 3 and 4 Citizenship and PSHE requirements, the play is followed by a group discussion facilitated by the company.

Peer Productions differ from other Theatre in Education companies because our actors are all aged between 16 and 21 and their messages are thus more readily accepted by their target audience. All of the company are fully CRB checked and trained both in performance and facilitation.

The Xclusions project requires a stage or floor space of no less than six metres square in a room which can be darkened (for projection) and with at least two standard power sockets available. For the £250 booking fee we will provide everything else!

STOP PRESS: Nearly every secondary school in Surrey is eligible to receive both this show and "The Homophobia Project" for NO CHARGE due to a full-fee subsidy from the borough Youth Opportunities Fund committees. For further details call Claire on 01483 839994 or contact bookings@peerproductions.co.uk

The Xclusions Project is available in May and June 2007. Bookings allocated on a first come first served basis.
